11-1: Simplifying Radicals

- Radical expressions like $2\sqrt{3}$ and $\sqrt{x+3}$ contain a radical.
 - You read $\sqrt{x+3}$ as "the square root of the quantity x plus 3"
 - You can simplify radicals by removing perfect-square factors from underneath the radical (called the "radicand").
- Multiplication Property of Square Roots
 - For every number $a \geq 0$ and $b \geq 0$, $\sqrt{ab} = \sqrt{a} \cdot \sqrt{b}$
 - Example: $\sqrt{54} = \sqrt{9} \cdot \sqrt{6} = 3\sqrt{6}$

Often, people searching for items on Craigslist are looking to get good deals on items and will want to haggle. In some cases, this may be all viewers can see of the post while they're scrolling through the list of other options, so it's essential to make it stand out. It's clear that most people using the web don't appreciate ads in their websites, blogs, video sites, or social networks. Include a few pictures of the inside, particularly if it's a retail shop. For example, if, while researching TVs, you land on a dozen websites but still haven't figured out what you want, the brand using ad remarketing might show you their TV once more later in the day, after you've stopped looking. In order to add or subtract radicals, we must have "like radicals" that is the radicands and the index must be the same for each term. $\sqrt{b} + 6\sqrt{2b} - 5\sqrt{b}$ 2. If you don't mind negotiating, you can often send your old stuff to new homes quickly using this site. $-11\sqrt{21} + 11\sqrt{21}$ 4. If you're willing to accept trades instead of a cash payment, that's relevant to say, too. Identify the like radicals. However, there are some key differences in them that you'll want to consider before you start posting everywhere in a flurry. Most online ads exist to generate website revenue that pays for web hosting, compensation for the writers and developers, and other expenses. Opt out from your Ad Settings page. Lastly, proofread your ad to make sure there are no errors, and format it so it's easy to digest, meaning no long paragraphs. If you provide a service instead of selling items, like landscaping, for example, add in a few attractive photos of finished projects to highlight the quality of your work. Follow the Site's Instructions Closely. Different sites ask for different pieces of information to include in your post. If you're posting an ad about a garage sale you're hosting, on the other hand, you'll want to include details about your location, including your address and the times and dates when the event is happening. $-12 + 3\sqrt{3}$ 8. $3\sqrt{7} + 4\sqrt{7}$ 3. $-3\sqrt{75} - \sqrt{27}$ Show Step-by-step Solutions Adding and subtracting radicals Students learn to add or subtract radicals by first breaking down the given radicals and simplifying each term, then combining terms that have the same number inside the radical. eBay will want to know how much extra you'll charge to ship an item. Do you just want to increase visibility for your local business? If you have pop-up windows that just won't go away, hijacked browser settings, internet preferences inexplicably changed, or a very slow web search experience, you may be the victim of spyware, adware, or malware. $2\sqrt{5} + 6\sqrt{5}$ 2. 2. Learn some important things to consider about the process of posting a free ad online. Choose the Right Site. Craigslist, eBay, Facebook — these and other websites all give you options for posting your ad and reaching people. For example, Craigslist posts have fields where you can add the dimensions or measurements of an item. $\sqrt{200} + \sqrt{75}$ Show Step-by-step Solutions Try the free Mathway calculator and problem solver below to practice various math topics. If possible, include a little bit about what its benefits are or how it could help a buyer. You should also include a mix of close-up shots and those taken farther away so viewers can see any details they need to. Put in a bit of extra effort when you're creating the ad by including as many relevant details that the site asks for as you can. 1. The ad might even give you a coupon code to get a discount on the purchase. Add or subtract the like radicals by adding or subtracting their coefficients. Sure, it's nice to get a bargain on something you were going to buy anyway, but not everyone appreciates being followed around the web by ads, even though you're never personally identified. MORE FROM BLOG LINES As people are browsing and searching for keywords that match what's in your ad, there's a greater chance they'll land on your post and get in touch with you. But let's face it, most of the time you don't need that reminder. Spam ads often have spelling errors and poor formatting, and you don't want your post to come across that way. Make It Visual. High-quality images are almost as important as what you write in your ad, and some people even skip over posts and ads that don't include compelling visuals. Not only do the ads crowd out content you do want to see, but they also make web pages load more slowly. Try the given examples, or type in your own problem and check your answer with the step-by-step explanations. Here's a scenario: you just performed a search on Google, took a few minutes to sift through the results, and then decided to visit Facebook. You can set your web browser to not accept cookies. We welcome your feedback, comments and questions about this site or page. Examples: 1. Thanks for letting us know! Tell us why! Photo Courtesy: Westend61/Getty Images Whether you're a small business owner or you have some things from around the house you want to get rid of, you're likely looking to reach a wider number of people and increase the likelihood that you'll find new customers or connect with the right buyer. You can set "Buy It Now" prices that potential buyers can't try to haggle on, and you can also let the market decide the final price by letting an auction run its course — you might end up with a bigger payout than you anticipated. Photo Courtesy: Klaus Vedfelt/Getty Images Also, pay careful attention to what you need to do to post the ad. Adding these details to your ad means you'll have fewer questions to field and respond to, as potential buyers won't have to contact you to get that information. All major web browsers have this option available in the settings, but remember that disabling cookies means disabling sites from keeping you logged in to email and social media accounts as well as providing "memory" functions of what you've done on sites in the past. Photo Courtesy: AleksandarNakic/E+/Getty Images So, what makes a great photo? Every web browser has an ad block extension available, one of the best being AdBlock Plus. Go incognito: Most browsers have an incognito or private browsing mode that you can go into to prevent cookies from being stored while you use the web. $2\sqrt{3} + 3\sqrt{27}$ 5. How do you make that happen? Photo Courtesy: Kathrin Ziegler/Getty Images It starts with the post title. $2\sqrt{12} + 6\sqrt{3}$ 2. You can find more information and change your preferences here. Online ads can be found in every corner of the web because that's how many companies make money. Lo and behold, within just a few seconds, what you just searched for on Google is now displaying as an ad on your Facebook feed! How is this possible? This website uses cookies. We and our advertising partners use cookies and other tracking technologies to improve your browsing experience on our website, to show you personalized content and targeted ads, to analyze our website traffic, and to understand where our visitors are coming from. If you don't verify your contact information, your ad likely won't get posted. It's especially unnerving when you see these ads on sites where you store personal information, such as Facebook, LinkedIn, or Google. Make sure you follow these instructions carefully so that your ad actually does show up on the site. Break down the given radicals and simplify each term. However, as people have grown used to online ads, advertisers have become increasingly creative with their marketing tactics, creating something called behavioral retargeting, also known as ad remarketing. Additionally, if you don't include images, people will likely contact you and ask if you can provide them anyway. Of course, you'll want to include the price. Photo Courtesy: Jamie Grill/Getty Images First, think about your goals. Example: $5\sqrt{18} + 3\sqrt{8} - \sqrt{50}$ Show Step-by-step Solutions Adding and Subtracting Radical Expressions Examples: Simplify 1. Now you've seen this particular TV more than once, which might reinforce your attachment to it. Let viewers know if it's non-negotiable or if you have any other stipulations, such as that they pay in cash only. This process works across all devices that are signed in to the same Google account, but it will only disable personalized ads in specific scenarios. Pop-up ads could be related to ad remarketing but some of them could be the result of a computer issue. If something has damage, include pictures of it as well. The basic idea is that the ad targets individuals that already showed an interest in the product. If so, Craigslist and similar classifieds sites are great options. How to Add and Subtract Radicals? It should be crisp and clear so people can fully see the subject. Here, you'll describe the item accurately. Companies that use behavioral retargeting techniques have an advantage over companies that don't. Radicals that are "like radicals" can be added or subtracted by adding or subtracting the coefficients. Please submit your feedback or enquiries via our Feedback page. If you have a company, include a short blurb about it in your listing. $3\sqrt{3} - \sqrt{27}$ 9. Being able to see an item gives people a much more accurate idea of what it looks like and what condition it's in, and it's often a deciding factor in their decision to purchase it or not. For example, you might leave the Nike website only to open an article on a random business site and see an ad about the shoes you were just looking at. Anyone browsing the site might come across your ad, and if they didn't know about your business before, they will now. $4\sqrt{5} + 3\sqrt{5}$ 2. It includes four examples. Try to set the item against a plain background if you can, clutter can distract people and detract from the overall impression they get from the item. Related Topics: More Lessons for Grade 9 Math Worksheets The following diagram shows the parts of a radical: radical symbol, radicand, index, and coefficient. If there's any damage to what you're selling, describe it here too to give viewers of the ad the most accurate idea possible of the item's condition. This strategy enables them to display ads elsewhere if a person looks at a product but doesn't buy it the first time, in hopes they will be reminded to complete the transaction. One helpful way of reaching a wider variety of people is to post ads about your business or items online. And fortunately, many of the online classifieds sites where you can post your ad are free to use. If you're simply trying to get rid of things around your house and aren't too concerned about making fistfuls of cash but, say, you aren't interested in hosting a garage sale, Craigslist can help you here, too. An alternative is to manually delete the browser cookies every few days. $2\sqrt{6} - 2\sqrt{24}$ 6. This is especially important if you're making a post about your business — a mistake-free ad can build trust with the people who see it. You don't have to give out your personal contact information when potential buyers are interested in your item because they can contact you through the site's messenger feature, and it also feels safer because it removes some of the anonymity that can make Craigslist feel a little suspicious. Placing them in the post from the outset can limit the amount of responding you need to do. Is someone following you, logging your searches, and then retargeting you on a completely different website? Essentially, yes. It's best if you incorporate as many as possible. These ads are making it possible for the sites you visit to stay in company, but that doesn't mean they're welcome. Most often, these malicious programs are installed within another program or downloaded file. Include general details about how you prefer to meet up to exchange the item with a buyer, keeping in mind that it's wise not to invite buyers into your home unless you're selling a large piece of furniture that you can't move to a public location beforehand. $3\sqrt{6} + 3\sqrt{54}$ 7. Scroll down the page for examples and solutions. Start it off with an action word, like "Check out this brand new truck winch!" Or, ask a question, like "Need a new in box iPad Pro?" These are more engaging than the typical "Dachshund puppy for sale" and similar post titles, and they make viewers curious to see what your ad is about. It's easy to create and manage your listings right from your smartphone, so if you have a lot of ads you want to post, this may be the easiest way to do it. Create an Eye-Catching Listing. Selling items and posting ads online means you're trying to get visitors to check out your ad over all the others they're scrolling through, so it's important that it grabs their attention and includes all the relevant information they might want to know. Save time by keeping your focus on the sites that are more likely to get you the results you're looking for. Opt out of ads on Google: If you use Google, you have some control over muting ads. But how exactly does this process work? Want to get the most money for your item or get visibility for your business that spans, well, the entire globe? Instead of blasting a particular ad to random people, ad retargeting latches on to those that show interest, in hopes that they'll come back. Basically, the website where you're shopping implements a bit of code called a cookie, which enables the site to track your browsing habits, see what you're looking at, and follow you to another site, where the ad showing what you just looked at shows up. A wide variety of studies show that people find online ads intrusive and annoying and that they would rather turn them off altogether. Anyone who visits the site can find the item if they're searching for it or something similar, and they can also find out about your business in the process. $3\sqrt{6} - 4\sqrt{6}$ 2. If you want to keep the process as streamlined as possible and are an adept social media user, Facebook Marketplace could be the option for you. You may need to verify that the email address you entered when you first started creating the ad is a valid one. Try eBay or a similar auction site. It's the fair thing to do, and it keeps potential buyers from getting upset when they come to purchase the item. If you're posting a general ad about your business to get the word out, include photos of the front of the store if it's brick and mortar; this makes it easier for visitors to find when they're looking for it. $3\sqrt{8} + 3\sqrt{2}$ Show Step-by-step Solutions Adding & Subtracting Radical Expressions This video looks at adding and subtracting radical expressions (square roots). Next, it's time to write the body of the post. The site might ask that you click a link provided in an email to ensure you're not a spammer and that a real person with a functioning email address (or phone number, if you opt to receive text message confirmations) is behind the post. But, from your perspective, it might seem weird, annoying, or downright creepy, especially when the same ad seems to "follow" you around. The radicand is the number inside the radical. Advertisement Advertisement Advertisement Advertisement videos, worksheets, solutions, and activities to help Grade 9 students learn about adding and subtracting radicals. Think about things like its color, size, brand, rarity — important details about it that you'd want to know if you were shopping for something similar. If you're concerned about online privacy and would like to stop websites from being able to retarget you, there are some simple ways to do it. Get an ad blocker: You can prevent ads from showing up on the websites you visit by using an ad blocker, which is a simple software application that blocks websites from sending ads to you. These ads can be useful if you want to be reminded of products you're considering buying.
